Dear Authorized Installer:

RE: Webasto manufactured sunroofs and FMVSS Standards

Webasto is the largest Original Equipment and Aftermarket sunroof manufacturer in the World. We take great pride in setting ourselves apart from other manufacturers by offering the most technologically advanced and highest featured products available in the market today. Our quality is demonstrated by the business we do with automobile companies such as Mercedes, BMW, Volkswagen, Toyota, General Motors, Ford and Ferrari just to name a few.

Webasto is very concerned with the safety and well being of the consumer as well as the legal liability for the companies in the chain serving the consumer. For this reason, our sunroof designs undergo stringent testing and tight quality control processes during and before the manufacturing cycle. As such, our Solaire and Hollandia aftermarket sunroof product lines have been tested in compliance with both the German TUV and US applicable FMVSS regulations.

We encourage you to demonstrate to your local customer base that our new line of Hollandia TVS 900 Series sunroofs sets itself apart by being a completely new design never before seen in the market. This sunroof sets a new standard for design and function which cannot be compared to any other inbuilt OE or AM sunroof. The twin panel venting and single panel sliding operation of the TVS900 makes this sunroof the quietest in the industry, and sets new standards in quality and performance. It provides superior ventilation and the quietest open air experience to even the most discerning consumer. When the rain sensor feature is incorporated, no other sunroof offers the level of luxury and convenience that the TVS 900 does.

Our Aftermarket Solaire Sunroof line is a proven performer as it is also a sunroof that is delivered directly for Original Equipment installations. This product line delivers high quality at an affordable price with features that meet or exceed our competitor's offerings.

Sincerely,

Technical Services Team
